This conference aims at delving into the impact of smartphones on migrants' mobility, activism, care and entrepreneurship with a specific focus on the challenges brought by their switch between online and offline.

Going beyond scholarship of transnationalism and digital communications, which centers on connectivity which takes place online, presenters from France, the UK, Hong Kong, Singapore, China, Germany, Israel, Italy will focus on the contrast between migrants' online and offline activities by elucidating how mobility, activism, care and entrepreneurship are achieved or challenged by the penetration of smartphones and how socio-political surroundings underlined by ethnicity, gender and class cannot be separated from our exploration of digital communication.

Professor Laurence Roulleau-Berger, Research Director at the French National Centre of Scientific Research will deliver a first keynote speech: Migration, compressed individual and global work

Professor Maurizio Ambrosini from the Department of Social and Political Studies of the University of Milan, will deliver a second keynote speech: The moral economy of migration. Links, obligations, and tensions across the borders

This project was made possible thanks to the generous support from the Chiang Ching-kuo Foundation for International Scholarly Exchange (CCKF) and it is the result of a collaboration between Sciences Po Lyon/ TRIANGLE UMR 5206 and the University of Portsmouth and the European Association of Taiwan Studies (EATS).

The conference will take place both online and offline: at Sciences Po Lyon, 14 Avenue Berthelot @ Amphi Aubrac and on TEAMS.
